Sir:

With regard to the Notice of Non-Compliant Amendment (37 C.F.R. 1.121) dated March 7, 2005, the Examiner has stated that each amended claim, as submitted in the Amendment dated November 23, 2004, has not been provided with the proper markings and that the withdrawn and cancelled claims must be reproduced. I, Barry I. as revised and submitted November 23, 2004. Applicant therefore believes the claims are now in compliance.

The Examiner provided applicants and their attorneys with the courtesy of an interview on March 24, 2005. Applicants thank the Examiner for the courtesies extended. In an Interview Summary dated April 5, 2005, the Examiner has requested a written summary of the interview in compliance with MPEP section 713.04. The interview consisted of a review of the pertinent prior art, a presentation of the inventive concepts by one of the inventors and a discussion of the patentable features of the inventive concepts. The Examiner reviewed the bases of rejection presented by the prior Examiner. The Examiner also reviewed his revised view of the patentability of the inventive concepts. Claims including various limitations were discussed, but no definitive claim was proffered. The Examiner made suggestions regarding possible claim limitations which were to be taken under advisement by Applicant and counsel for later discussion. The Examiner indicated that further searching would likely be necessary for the majority of the limitations discussed. As no rejection is currently pending, no amended claims have been submitted herewith.

If the Examiner feels that any issues remain that require discussion, he is kindly invited to contact Applicant's undersigned attorney to resolve the issues.

Respectfully submitted,

METZ LEWIS LLC
